

Statements of the participants

„The Integration Week helped me to meet a lot of students from other courses, who otherwise I would not have met. It is a great opportunity for networking I believe.“

„It was a tough week. However, I very much enjoyed the lectures and materials. The professors were very motivated and it was interesting to have a dialogue with them.“

„The Integration Week gives you an idea what studying in HSG is like - it covers broad areas, including contextual studies. Be sure you are well prepared!“

„Intensive but interesting week full of learning. The case study was lots of fun, because it combines all modules.“

The Integration Week as an entry requirement

Applicants with a university Bachelor's degree in a similar discipline must successfully complete the integration week before the Master's degree programme starts.

The integration week offers an integrative overview of the graduate studies at the University of St.Gallen.
Modules of the Integration Week:

- Financial Management
- Business Law
- Business Administration
- Economics
- Contextual Studies

The lectures in the integration week aim to deepen the study matter you have gone through in self-study and prepare you for the subsequent examinations you need to sit.

For a successful completion of the integration week it is indispensable to go through the learning material on one's own responsibility and in time, based on the academic background.

The integration week will take place in week 23. An alternative or repetition date is offered in week 36.
